Thank you for joining us tonight! We're excited to be able to share our heart for Nicaragua with you. Brian and I spent much time working there before we were married, and we've looked forward to the day that we could go back as a family. And we're lucky to have our dear friend, Abigail Kawell joining us for the experience. We're excited to be visiting a ministry that is relatively new to us (Nuevas Esperanzas), but staffed by old friends (Andrew and Jane), and we're looking forward to seeing how God is working in the communities that we used to spend so much time.

As we've prepared for this trip, we've been caught up in details... finances, travel arrangements, lodging, car rental, safety, agenda, etc. But this past week, we came to a quieting realization. This trip is not about us, our family, Abigail, Andrew and Jane, Nuevas Esperanzas, even the people of Nicaragua, or what we're going to accomplish. It's about God. It's about Him being glorified. It's about His heart shining... to us and to those around us. We look forward to sharing this exciting experience with you!
